Top 25 Public Universities in the South

- America's Best Colleges, U.S. News & World Report, 2014

* These figures are based on current admission and graduation data for bachelor's degree students.
Choosing the right university is one of the most important decisions you can make.

With consistent national recognition as one of the “100 Best Values in Public Colleges” and one of the South’s top 25 public universities, UNG is a top choice if you are looking for academic excellence and affordability.

A multi-campus institution and one of only six federally-designated senior military colleges in the nation, UNG is unique in the range of educational pathways it offers. From associate degrees to graduate-level programs, you can chart your own path for admission and college success.

With an emphasis on educating students for a diverse and global society, you may choose from expansive degree programs, a wide array of modern language and cultural programs, study abroad programs, and leadership development opportunities that prepare you for a fulfilling role as a professional, civic or military leader.

Student Success

The University of North Georgia is committed to providing resources to encourage student success in all pathways.

UNG?

100 BEST PUBLIC COLLEGE VALUES

—Kiplinger’s Personal Finance Magazine, 2013

UNG offers opportunities to participate in NCAA SPORTS and support our NIGHTHAWKS.

UNG helps you discover and develop YOUR LEADERSHIP POTENTIAL.

UNG is committed to STUDENT SUCCESS.

UNG will push you to excel and MAXIMIZE YOUR POTENTIAL.

UNG gets you started on THE RIGHT PATH.
You may begin your bachelor’s degree on any of our campuses. However, if you start on the Oconee or Cumming Campus, you will transition to the Gainesville or Dahlonega Campus to complete your degree. You may also begin in an associate degree program on any campus (excluding Dahlonega) and later transition to a bachelor’s degree on the Dahlonega or Gainesville Campus. The associate degree is a 2-year degree that can be applied to a 4-year baccalaureate degree should you choose to continue your post-secondary education. All associate programs listed are advising areas of concentrated study within the Associate of Art (A.A.) and Associate of Science (A.S.) degree requirements.

Student involvement

“No matter which organization you choose to become involved in at UNG, you will have the opportunity to take on leadership positions, which will help build your resume once you graduate. As president of my sorority and vice-president of Student Government Association, I learned valuable leadership skills that employers are looking for, such as communication, problem solving and critical thinking skills.”

—Chelsea Cierski, Senior

Study abroad

“I studied abroad in Valparaiso, Chile. We got to travel throughout South America, and make our own experiences that cannot be taught in a classroom. I learned how to be flexible and manage time wisely while vastly improving my Spanish skills by being immersed in the Chilean culture.”

—Katie Johnson, Senior
UNG’s Career Services professionals can help you map a career plan every step of the way. Beginning with your freshman year through finding your first full-time job, your journey will include discovering your values, skills and interests and choosing a major, gathering information about career choices and trends, learning to write a resume, and maybe even applying to graduate school.

- Unlimited individual appointments for assistance in your career or transfer-related areas
- Free self-assessment tools
- Employment opportunities for students through the online UNG Job Board
- Internship and employment searches through access to various job bulletins, local and federal job listings
- Career Fairs
- Workshops on a variety of career-related topics, such as finding an internship, interviewing skills, resume writing, job search, transferring, and more
- Special programming including practice graduate school exams and etiquette dinners
- On-campus recruiting programs
- Access to the Alumni Career Network, allowing you to connect with alumni in your fields of interest

UNG.EDU/CAREERS
I decided that if I wanted a job straight out of college, I needed to fully prepare myself. As part of the criminal justice curriculum, you are required to complete an internship with a law enforcement agency. I kept contact with the agents I performed my internship with, which is how I learned of the opening for my current position. I also utilized the Career Services Office by having them critique my resume and give me a mock interview, which helped me feel prepared for the real thing.

It is important to always be open to ideas for your future – even in places you never would have thought of. Whether you’re going on to graduate school or straight into the working world, be constantly mindful of the relationships you are fostering with professors and with the working professionals you meet. When it comes to applying to graduate school, this is especially true. Try to make connections with professors in your prospective schools. Also, take advantage of the resources at your disposal – especially career services – when it comes time to write cover letters, resumes, statements of purpose, and other application-related documents.
What do I need to be accepted?

FRESHMAN ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- 1640 Freshman Index
- 17 required high school curriculum units*
- Minimum SAT scores of 330 in critical reading and 310 in math OR minimum ACT scores of 12 in English and 14 in math
- Verification of lawful US presence if requesting in-state tuition

*If you are missing a course, you may be considered for admission if you meet additional guidelines.

APPLICATION DEADLINES

Please submit your application and required documents by the following dates for consideration for the semester in which you would like to enroll.

FALL SEMESTER
Preferred deadline: May 1
Regular admission: July 1
International students: June 1

SPRING SEMESTER
Regular admission: November 1
International students: October 1

SUMMER SEMESTER
Regular admission: April 1
International students: not available

Note that we may reach capacity for ANY campus or term prior to the deadline. If capacity is met early we will stop accepting applications and supporting documents.
UNG offers students multiple pathways to degree completion, and many students begin in associate degree programs and transition into bachelor’s degree programs when they are ready, while others transfer from other institutions to our associate programs.

The Office of Academic Transitions provides prospective and current students with academic programs that help students to overcome academic challenges and be successful in college.

TRANSITION INFO

- Students must have an overall GPA of 2.0 or higher
- Good academic standing

You can easily transition from an associate degree program to a bachelor’s degree program. All Learning Support and Required High School Courses must be completed before transition.

Students who do not meet freshman admission requirements for the bachelor’s program will need to complete at least 30 hours of college-level coursework.

TRANSFER INFO

- No minimum GPA is required

If you have less than 30 transferable semester hours of college credit completed, and you graduated high school less than five years from the start of your intended semester of enrollment, then you must also meet the new freshman admissions requirements.

If you are under an academic suspension or learning support suspension from your previous institution, you must complete your suspension period and be eligible to return to your previous institution.
What do I need to be accepted?

FRESHMAN ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- Minimum SAT scores of 480 in critical reading and 440 in math
- Minimum ACT scores of 20 in English and 18 in math
- 17 required high school curriculum units
- Competitive Freshman Index
- Verification of lawful US presence if requesting in-state tuition

*Acceptance to a bachelor’s degree program is competitive; meeting minimums does not guarantee acceptance. If you are not eligible for admission to a bachelor’s program but meet associate standards, we will automatically accept you into an Associate program on the Cumming, Gainesville or Oconee Campus.

Located in Forsyth County, a hub for global commerce and international trade, UNG’s Cumming Campus produces leaders able to compete in a global economy. Only an hour’s drive from downtown Atlanta, students have easy access to the wide range of amenities living close to a big-city provides while studying in a smaller campus environment. This campus is particularly convenient for students interested in dual-enrollment, as well as adult-learners looking to begin a new degree program.

Highlights

- Core curriculum courses for associate and bachelor degree programs
- Rapidly growing student body
- Student Government Association
- UNG bookstore
- Provisions On Demand (P.O.D.) dining
- Math tutoring services
UNG’s Dahlonega Campus is readily recognized by the gold-covered steeple of the administration building, Price Memorial Hall, listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The town is known widely for its historic town square embellished by art galleries, shops and restaurants. This picturesque community, only an hour north of metro Atlanta, is the home of the first major gold rush in the nation and a popular tourist attraction nestled in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. With stunning waterfalls surrounded by lush forests inhabited by abundant wildlife, the north Georgia region draws visitors who enjoy hiking, mountain climbing, rafting, canoeing, and camping.

Corps of Cadets

UNG is one of only 6 senior military colleges in the United States.
Military College of Georgia

The University of North Georgia is federally-designated as a senior military college, one of only six in the nation. The Corps of Cadets, also known as the Boar’s Head Brigade, is founded upon principles of integrity and honor; its Cadets live in an atmosphere highly conducive to the development of young men/women for leadership roles in their chosen professions. Since 1873, members of the Corps of Cadets have learned the principles of leadership by serving as cadet leaders in positions of increasing responsibility.

UNG has a reputation for winning teams and student-athletes who are leaders in academics, sportsmanship and service.
UNG Nighthawks

The University of North Georgia offers opportunities to participate in NCAA sports and support our Nighthawks. More than a dozen UNG teams compete in the NCAA Division II Peach Belt Conference: baseball, softball, basketball, shooting sports, golf, soccer, tennis and women’s cross country.

Make-A-Wish™

UNG’s Make-A-Wish campaign is a collective effort of all branches of our campus community. UNG Student Athlete Advisory Committee has been awarded its fourth consecutive Peach Belt Conference (PBC) Make-A-Wish award for the most funds raised.

“It is such a rewarding and personalized initiative because our student-athletes can relate to dreams and wishes,” says Athletic Director Lindsay Reeves. “Each student-athlete who represents UNG grew up with a dream or wish and being able to make a child’s dream come true strikes a chord with our department.”

UNG’s Gainesville Campus is located in Hall County, an epicenter for trade, health care, education, industry, retail, and recreation for northeast Georgia, which offers incredible career opportunities for UNG graduates. Known for its warm and welcoming atmosphere, Gainesville is rich in heritage and cultural arts with museums, historic sites, galleries, and theaters. Gainesville also hugs the shores of beautiful Lake Lanier, is a short drive from the Appalachian Trail and Blue Ridge Mountains, and yet is still convenient to Atlanta.

Highlights

- 20 bachelor’s degree programs
- 50+ associate degree programs
- More than 80 student organizations
Theatre & Performing Arts
One of the signature programs on UNG’s Gainesville Campus is the Gainesville Theatre Alliance (GTA), a unique collaboration between a public university and a neighboring private university, theatre professionals and the northeast Georgia community. GTA combines challenging course work with a quality production program. The production activity at GTA is far above that found at most colleges and universities at the undergraduate level. This is a model found almost exclusively in highly competitive conservatory programs, as it combines professional theatre with a college theatre program. Additionally, UNG offers many musical, film and performance programs across the university.

- Professional theatre setting
- Individualized training at a top theatre company in Georgia
- State-of-the-art spaces
- Quality production program
- Strong ensemble & support
- Challenging college courses
UNG’s Gainesville Campus offers a variety of student services and degree programs to help you meet your goals.

Back, move ahead
“I chose UNG’s Gainesville Campus because I was excited to pursue my bachelor’s degree in the new Communications program. The state-of-the-art technology that is inside this school that the teachers allow us to get our hands on provides real tactile knowledge in the field. We have an actual recording studio, complete with a sound board, green screen, light grid and edit bay. Plus, our professors provide one-on-one interaction with students.”

—Will Anthony

“I chose the UNG’s Gainesville Campus because it was close to my hometown and offered me the opportunity to study at a university with a strong academic reputation. Also, the process of transitioning to the Dahlonega Campus to complete my degree was simple and seamless.”

—Jessica Bartos, Buford, GA
UNG’s Oconee Campus offers students a unique college experience that capitalizes on the area’s sense of community. The small campus environment allows our students to be connected to their instructors and fellow classmates, creating relationships that contribute to academic success.

UNG’s Oconee Campus is about 15 miles from the city of Athens, which has multiple student-oriented apartment complexes and a wide variety of student activities.

Our programs of study allow our students to finish associate degrees on the Oconee Campus with easy transition to finish bachelor’s degrees at UNG’s Gainesville or Dahlonega Campus. The Oconee Campus also provides multiple dual-enrollment opportunities that allow high school juniors and seniors to earn college credit before graduating high school.

Highlights

- Over 25 associate degrees
- 30+ clubs and organizations
- Easily transition into a bachelor’s program

A member of the University System of Georgia

“Through UNG, I studied abroad in Berlin, Germany where I was able to live out a dream while receiving academic credit for my classes. Being able to truly live in another culture for a month has opened my eyes to the vast amount of knowledge available in the world today. Having completed a study abroad program, I gained an advanced level of understanding, while preparing for my career post-graduation.”
