University of North Georgia Mission

The University of North Georgia, a regional multi-campus institution and premier senior military college, provides a culture of academic excellence in a student-focused environment that includes quality education, service, inquiry, and creativity. This is accomplished through broad access to comprehensive academic and co-curricular programs that develop students into leaders for a diverse and global society. The University of North Georgia is a University System of Georgia Leadership Institution and is The Military College of Georgia.

Honor Code

It is the responsibility of all community members to promote, abide by, and enforce the Honor Code:

On my honor, I will not lie, cheat, steal, plagiarize, evade the truth, conspire to deceive, or tolerate those who do.

Leadership Commitment to Diversity

The University of North Georgia prepares students to lead in a diverse and global society. Essential to this mission is an environment that is welcoming, respectful, and inclusive of individuals and groups from a range of social, economic, and cultural backgrounds- an environment that embraces varied perspectives, values, and unique experiences.

The university is committed to strengthening relationships among all stakeholders so as to enhance educational experiences, collegiality, sensitivity, and generosity. UNG's diverse environment leverages the full potential of team members and creates a culture that unleashes value-driving insights and innovative problem-solving.

Diversity significantly enhances the university's intellectual climate, creativity, and worldview, and we are committed to promoting understanding and appreciation for all individuals and groups. The University seeks a positive climate for diversity and inclusion to allow for self-reflection and the exploration of differences in a safe and nurturing environment. UNG also fosters a climate where equity and equality are valued and supported.

Because cultivating and nurturing diversity at UNG are central to our success, we strive to recruit and retain high-caliber faculty, staff, and students who possess inherent and acquired diversity traits. We recognize that it is equally important to develop employee cultural competencies and build skills to ensure an inclusive learning and work environment. Ultimately, UNG's commitment to diversity is a commitment to educational excellence and to a more just and vibrant community.

Academic Policies

The individual student is responsible for being familiar with the academic regulations and procedures at the University of North Georgia as published in this handbook and in the university catalog. Each student is encouraged to read the regulations carefully and to seek interpretation from their academic advisor or from the Office of the Provost in the event that questions exist.

Academic Advising

Academic Advising keeps you on track towards graduation by helping you determine the courses you need to complete in the core curriculum and fulfill your major and graduation requirements. Advisors can help you develop an educational goal plan, answer questions about UNG academic policies, and refer you to campus resources that will support your academic success. Campus Academic Advising Centers serve students in specific major programs, undecided students, and students who earn grade point averages below certain minimum standards.

For more information, please see Academic Advising.

Academic Rights and Responsibilities

1. In all academic matters, a student of the University of North Georgia has the right to be governed by reasonable and just regulations.
2. The student shall be free to take reasoned exception to data and views offered in the classroom and to reserve judgment about matters of opinion, without fear of penalty.
3. The student has the right to a course grade that represents the instructor's professional judgment of their performance in the course, and to protection from improper disclosure of information concerning their grades, views, beliefs, political associations, health, sexual orientation, or character, which an instructor acquires in the course of their professional relationship with the student.
4. The student shall have a right to accurately and clearly stated information, which would enable them to determine:
 - a. The general requirements for establishing and maintaining an acceptable academic standing.
 - b. Their own academic relationship with the university and any special conditions, which apply.
 - c. The graduation requirements for a particular curriculum and major.
5. The student is responsible for classroom behavior that is conducive to the teaching/learning process for all concerned and for meeting requirements of a course of study according to the standards of performance established by the faculty.
6. The faculty shall have final authority and responsibility for course content, classroom procedure, and grading.
7. No committee or judicial body established under this document shall have any power to change any individual grade, which represents the instructor's professional judgment of the student's performance in the class. In view of this, it is incumbent upon the faculty member to keep each student informed of his/her progress or lack of progress in each course.
8. In the event that a specific complaint cannot be resolved through informal conferences with the faculty member involved, any student who believes that their academic rights as defined herein have been violated may seek redress. See procedures under "Student Grade Complaints."

Academic Standing Policy

A student's academic status at UNG is determined at the end of each term of enrollment (fall, spring or summer) on the basis of the student's cumulative and/or term grade point average (GPA) and number of hours earned.

For more information, please see Academic Standing Policy.

Class Attendance Policy

The University of North Georgia expects students to attend all regularly scheduled classes for instruction and examination. When a student is compelled for any reason to be absent from class, the student should immediately convey the reason for the absence directly to the instructor. The student is responsible for all material presented in class and for all announcements and assignments.

For more information, please see Class Attendance Policy.

Course Loads

A normal or average course load is 15-18 semester hours exclusive of military science.

For more information, please see Course Load.

Emergency Notification System

Currently the University of North Georgia has adopted three methods of communication for dissemination of information regarding emergencies. Those methods include:

- UNG Alert
- Website Notification

- Outdoor Weather Sirens

For more information, please see Emergency Information.

Evaluations

Class evaluations at the University of North Georgia are conducted online through Banner.

For more information, please see Class Evaluations.

Final Examinations

The final examination is a scheduled part of the class.

For more information, please see Final Exams.

Student Grade Complaints/Appeals

The grade appeals process is appropriate only when the basis for the assigned grade is arbitrary, capricious, or the result of a ministerial error. Arbitrary means that a course grade is determined by random choice or personal whim with no sound academic reason. Capricious means that a course grade is determined by a material departure from reasonable and announced grading procedures. Ministerial error means a student assessment was inaccurately recorded or the final grade was incorrectly calculated (data entry or calculation error).

For more information, please see Student Grade Complaints.

Student Records Management

The university Registrar's Office is the custodian of education records at the University of North Georgia. Education records generally include any record (handwritten, electronic, print, film, or other medium) containing information directly related to the student and maintained by or for UNG or an agent of the university.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords any student, regardless of age, who is or has been in attendance at UNG, the right to inspect and review their education records within 45 days following the receipt of the student's request.

Access to the following records will not be permitted:

1. Records kept by UNG personnel which remain in the sole possession of the maker;
2. Law enforcement records maintained by campus police;
3. Employment records which relate exclusively to employment;
4. Records of professionals providing medical or psychological treatment to the student;
5. Financial records of parents or legal guardians;
6. Confidential letters of recommendation for admission to the university;
7. Records connected with an application for admission to UNG if that application was denied;
8. Application for employment or honors for which the student has voluntarily signed a waiver;
9. Information pertaining to another student if the record contains information about more than one student.

The student's written consent is required before UNG may disclose education records to a third party except to school officials or in response to conditions as defined below:

1. To UNG personnel who have legitimate educational interest in the information in order to fulfill their professional responsibilities;
2. To officials of other institutions where the student seeks or intends to enroll;
3. To representatives of federal agencies and state and local officials authorized by law to have access to education records and members and staff of the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia;
4. To appropriate persons in connection with a student's application for or receipt of financial aid;

5. To a person or company with whom the university has contracted;
6. To accrediting bodies or to organizations conducting studies for or on behalf of the university;
7. To necessary individuals in connection with a health or safety emergency;
8. To the parents of a student regarding the student's violation of a federal, state, or local law, or of any rule or policy of the university, governing the use or possession of alcohol or a controlled substance;
9. To person in response to lawfully issues subpoenas or court orders. Every reasonable effort will be made to notify the student in advance of compliance;
10. To parents of dependent students as defined by the Internal Revenue Code, Section 152;
11. To the victim of an alleged perpetrator of a crime of violence or a non-forcible sex offense concerning the final results of a disciplinary hearing with respect to the alleged crime;
12. To any third party the final results of a disciplinary proceeding related to a crime of violence or non-forcible sex offense if the student who is the alleged perpetrator is found to have violated the university's rules or policies;
13. If the information to be released is designated as directory information.

UNG has designated the following items as directory information:

1. Student's name, mailing and permanent addresses, telephone numbers, and email address;
2. Degree(s) pursued and/or awarded and dates;
3. Major, minor, and/or concentration;
4. Enrollment status.(i.e., full- or part-time);
5. Class standing (i.e., senior, freshman, etc.);
6. Dates of attendance;
7. Anticipated graduation date;
8. Participation in University-sponsored activities and sports;
9. Honors and awards received.

For more information, please see Student Records.

Withdrawal from UNG

There are several different types of withdrawals depending on the circumstances and/or needs of the student. Students are encouraged to review all types of withdrawal in order to decide what is best for their situation and progression toward their educational goals.

For more information, please see Withdrawal.

University of North Georgia Student Code of Conduct

The University of North Georgia strives to educate students and develop leaders who are prepared for community, state, and global service. Consistent with University System of Georgia policies, the university has created a Student Code of Conduct that seeks to protect the safety, rights, and privileges afforded to students and other members of the community. Essential to this purpose, students and other model citizens and their actions and behavior should reflect the core values of the university. Students are expected to adhere to national, state, and local laws; respect the rights and privileges of others; be forthright and honest in all their social and academic conduct; and in general, conduct themselves in a manner which brings credit to themselves and the University of North Georgia.

The University of North Georgia is dedicated not only to learning and the advancement of knowledge, but also to the development of ethical and responsible citizens. It seeks to achieve these goals through a sound educational program policies governing student conduct that encourage independent thinking and maturity. Each student, as a citizen of the University community, assumes an obligation to follow all rules and regulations.

Included in the Student Code of Conduct are regulations which the University and local communities can expect students to uphold upon admission at the University of North Georgia, an explanation of the student conduct process, rights of students and student organizations as they pertain to the conduct process, a list of possible sanctions, and the appeal process.

For the complete policy, please see Student Code of Conduct.

Student Resources

This section contains information on the various University-wide resources that can offer students support in academic planning, career planning, financial matters, cultural affinity and identity development, and many other areas. Not all areas have physical locations on every campus. Please check department websites for specific information.

Card Services

Your Nighthawks Card is your official University identification card. Each student at the University of North Georgia is required to obtain and carry an official University ID card.

The Nighthawks Card is two cards in one!

1. The wide black stripe is the Student ID/Campus side of the card: Use your card to check out books and study aids at the library, utilize your pre-paid student printing funds, access Campus Cash and campus facilities like the Rec Center. If you're a student in Dahlonega, you'll also use your card to enter your residence hall and use your meal plan.
2. The silver hologram stripe gives you access to the optional Discover Pre-Paid Debit Card: Receive financial aid and other University related refunds in the form of a prepaid debit card. For details about setting up your refund preference, visit the Card Services website.

If a Nighthawks Card is lost or stolen, it can be replaced for a $25.00 fee at Card Services.

Career Services

We help prepare you for a lifetime of meaningful work, and we encourage you to begin as soon as you get to UNG. We can help you with exploring majors and careers, finding internships, graduate school decisions, connecting with employers, and more. In addition, you can search for local, national, and international jobs through Handshake, our UNG job board, which also includes part-time positions, summer jobs, and internships.

For more information, please see Career Services.

Emergency Call Boxes

The University of North Georgia has strategically placed Emergency Call Boxes throughout our campuses. These boxes, when activated, will automatically contact the University Police. Students and staff are encouraged to learn the location of emergency call boxes and to use them for emergency communications. Call boxes can be used to request police assistance, escorts, assist with vehicle problems, and information.

Financial Aid

The University of North Georgia's financial aid program is administered in conjunction with the nationally established policy and philosophy. The basis of this policy is the belief that parents are the primary and responsible source for helping a student meet educational costs. Student financial aid is available only for meeting the difference between potential resources (such as parents' contribution, student earnings, outside awards) and expenses. The primary purpose of the University of North Georgia's financial aid program is to provide assistance to students who, without such aid, would be unable to attend the University.

Financial aid may include scholarships, grants, loans, and part-time employment. These types of assistance are extended either singularly or in combination depending on a student's academic record and the need for assistance (defined as the difference between the family's resources and the cost of attending college).

For more information, please see Financial Aid.

Food Service

The University of North Georgia has two different food service providers that service four campuses. For more information, please see Dining Services.

Libraries

Students at the University of North Georgia seek out the library as an ideal environment outside the classroom where they can study, relax, and consult with a librarian. UNG libraries encourage and foster student academic success by providing diverse collections, services, and instruction. Each UNG campus is served by an on-site and fully-staffed library. For more information about the offerings, please see Library.

Multicultural Student Affairs

The Office of Multicultural Student Affairs (MSA) strengthens the climate of the University by fostering an inclusive environment for all constituents. This office provides leadership opportunities and encourages student involvement. MSA advocates for the University to strive toward a diverse campus community and serves as a resource for institutional diversity, multicultural education, and social justice awareness for all constituents. The office contributes to the mission of the University by providing the campus community with opportunities to learn about and discuss social issues that focus on diversity, inclusion, and internationalism. MSA also serves as advisors for underrepresented student organizations.

MSA assists and supports in all efforts to recruit and retain underrepresented students by providing special assistance with personal, social, or academic concerns, and other guidance. MSA is also available to all students, staff, faculty, and community as a resource regarding social justice and diversity issues.

For more information, please see Multicultural Student Affairs.

Off Campus Housing

The Division of Student Affairs maintains a housing list for students which provides local rental information as well as a listing of students looking for roommates. These listings are provided as a service to students and all housing arrangements are handled individually between the student and the landlord. The University does not recommend students to prospective landlords, nor does the University officially approve housing for students. The listing is located on UNG Connect.

Residence Life

The University of North Georgia houses over 2,000 non-cadet students on the Dahlonega campus within its three styles of University housing: traditional residence halls, suite-style residence halls, and apartment-style residence halls. Meal plans are required for students living in traditional and suite-style residence halls.

All rooms, suites, and apartments are fully furnished with beds, mattresses, drawer units, desks, and chairs. Additional items vary by housing type and can be found on the Residence Life website. Each room is hard-wired for network access and has wireless access as well.

Each residence hall has common lobbies, computer labs, and laundry facilities, which are available at no additional cost to all resident students.

Students who are assigned a space in University housing are required to complete an online University Housing contract and are held responsible for the terms and conditions of the contract for the full term of the contract. Please read your contract thoroughly before submitting, as it is a legally binding agreement between you and The University of North Georgia or the University's Public-Private Partner, Corvias Campus Living.

For more information, please see Residence Life.

Student Counseling

Most college students encounter difficulties at some point during their college experience. Student Counseling can help you to move through challenging times, feel better, and improve your ability to succeed academically and socially. We have four Student Counseling locations (Dahlonega, Gainesville, Oconee, and Cumming) that provide free and confidential services by licensed professionals to currently enrolled students. UNG's student counseling services focus on helping you to find solutions that fit you at this time in your life. We offer a wide variety of services including mental health assessments, individual and couples psychotherapy, group therapy, screenings, and educational seminars.

Individual counseling services include, but are not limited to, depression, anxiety, relationships, homesickness, stress management, difficulty adjusting to college life, grief, crises, biofeedback, self-exploration, interpersonal conflicts, panic, academic concerns, test anxiety, rape/sexual assault, sexual orientation and gender issues, substance abuse and other addictive behaviors, and worries about other students, friends, or family members. Medication evaluations can be made to off-campus psychiatrists.

Counseling is not documented on your academic record and is kept between only you and the therapist. The counselor may only break confidentiality in the unusual circumstances of imminent danger to you or others, a court order, or where there are concerns for abuse or neglect of children, the disabled, or the elderly. Regardless of which campus you are attending, if an emergency involves imminent risk to yourself or someone else, immediately contact Student Counseling, University Police, or 911.

For more information, please see Student Counseling.

Student Disability Services

UNG is committed to providing an inclusive and supportive learning environment, and promoting the principle of individual rights and responsibilities for all students. As a resource and an advocate for students with disabilities,

Student Disability Services staff works to provide equal educational opportunities by promoting academic, social, and physical access.

For more information, please see Student Disability Services.

Student Health Services

Student Health Services exists to advance the health of students at the University of North Georgia by providing services that include evaluation and treatment for minor acute illnesses and/or injuries, women's and men's clinic examinations, and testing. Chronic illnesses are not treated at Student Health. These services are provided to all UNG students who pay the student health fee.

For more information, please see Student Health Services.

Student Money Management Center

The University of North Georgia Student Money Management Center is committed to providing opportunities for students to enhance their knowledge of effective money management through promoting financial literacy and empowering student to make responsible financial decisions. The SMMC offers personal consultations, workshops, seminars, presentations, and online resources aimed at helping students take control of their financial lives and establish good money habits for like.

For more information, please the Student Money Management Center.

Testing

The University of North Georgia is a member of the Consortium of the National College Testing Association (NCTA) and offer a variety of testing for students and community members.

For more information, please see Testing.

Tutoring Services

UNG Tutoring Services provides currently enrolled students with complimentary and comprehensive tutoring in a variety of subjects. Tutoring Services is dedicated to promoting and fostering independent learning and thinking to improve confidence in a relaxed, fun atmosphere. Our friendly and knowledgeable tutors are committed to providing academic support for students through developing studying skills and test taking strategies and through bridging the learning gap between in-class work and homework. Tutoring is available on four campuses and is provided by professional and peer tutors. Conferences are available in either one-on-one or group sessions with no appointment necessary.

For more information, please see Tutoring.

UNG Campus Connection (Bookstore)

The University maintains bookstores at four campuses: Cumming, Dahlonega, Gainesville, and Oconee. This is where students may purchase textbooks, school supplies, UNG apparel, and more. The Dahlonega campus also has the Military Clothing and Sales where cadets may purchase their uniforms and accessories.

Bookstore operating hours vary by campus and time of year. For more information, please see Bookstore.

University Police

The University of North Georgia Police Department provides a full range of law-enforcement and ministerial services 24-hours a day, seven days a week on the Dahlonega and Gainesville campuses. On the Cumming and Oconee campuses, officers are assigned on patrol whenever school is in sessions and has agreements with the surrounds law enforcements agencies. The Blue Ridge campus is served by the Fannin County Sheriff's Office and any follow-up investigations are conducted by UNG Police.

For more information, please see University Police.

Veteran and Adult Learner Programs

As a Veteran and Adult Learner student, it is pivotal for you to get the information needed in making your goals and dreams a reality. Here at UNG we strive to offer all the services you need to make this happen. Veteran and Adult Learner Programs (VALP) is here to guide you in the right direction and help in identifying those services and resources available to you.

VALP provides resource centers for veterans and adult learner students. In each of these resource centers you will find a computer lab, group and individual study areas, professional development books and study material for CLEP and DSST exams.

For more information, please see Veteran and Adult Learner Programs.

Co-Curricular Experiences and Opportunities

The University of North Georgia provides students the opportunity to develop not only academically, but also outside of the classroom. The Office of Student Involvement coordinates many of these experiences to enhance your development as a whole person and offer you the change to practice and test ideas gained in the classroom.

Fraternity & Sorority Life

Friendship. Scholarship. Philanthropy. Leadership. Fun. These five words describe Fraternity & Sorority Life, or the fraternity and sorority system, at the University of North Georgia. At UNG, Fraternity & Sorority Life is just one part of a balanced undergraduate experience. The fraternity or sorority experience is a great way to create a sense of home within the UNG campus community. It is all about friendship, leadership development, scholarship, civic engagement, philanthropic endeavors, and brotherhood/sisterhood that compliment your classroom experience. It's about traditions and establishing life-long friendships. Many students have found lifetime friendships and a home away from home with their fraternity brothers and sorority sisters. In addition to this support system, Greek-lettered organizations provide leadership opportunities and scholastic support.

Our office is dedicated to the development of the UNG Fraternity & Sorority community through close collaboration with the University community, International organizations, and community partners to provide educational programs, services, and resources for the 15 Greek-lettered social fraternities and sororities and their governing councils.

If you're looking for a way to meet tons of new people and have some fun, check out the fraternity and sorority recruitment process that takes place at the beginning of spring semester. Going through recruitment in no way requires you to join an organization, but offers you the opportunity to see what our sororities and fraternities have to offer. Members of fraternities and sororities at UNG pride themselves on being different. Take a closer look and see if this is what your college career is missing.

For more information, please see Fraternity & Sorority Life.

Leadership Programs

At the University of North Georgia, we are committed to helping each UNG student reach their personal leadership potential. With a unique designation as a University System of Georgia State Leadership Institution, you will experience a culture of academic excellence in a student-focused environment committed to your leadership success. Through UNG Leadership Programs you will gain broad access to academic and co-curricular programs that develop you into a leader for a diverse society. With experiences ranging from 1:1 faculty mentoring, resume-building experiences, and student leadership opportunities, UNG students have multiple pathways to actively develop their leadership awareness and skills. UNG students lead in student organizations, in the classroom, in the community, in their professional fields, and all around the world. The possibilities to lead at UNG are endless. You can find Leadership Programs representatives on the Dahlonega, Gainesville, and Oconee campuses.

For more information, please see Leadership Programs.

Recreational Sports

The Recreational Sports Department at the University of North Georgia provides an opportunity for all students to participate in a wide variety of programming that includes intramural sports, outdoor pursuits, sport clubs, group exercise classes, and various fitness activities. Our mission is to promote an inclusive UNG community that advances student development and the student experience by providing comprehensive recreational programming and facilities that provide leadership and service opportunities.

Recreational programming and facilities are available for students across most campuses if all applicable campus student fees have been paid. Students may gain access to UNG Recreational facilities and programming on other campuses as long as applicable student fees have been paid.

For more information, please see Recreational Sports.

Student Involvement

The Office of Student Involvement contributes to student success in college and beyond by providing a variety of supportive programs (cultural, educational, recreational, and social), promoting leadership among students, and working with student organizations. One each one of our campuses you will find activities, events, and organizations tailored to the needs and interest of student on that campus.
